GROWER AND IMPORTER OF HARDY PERENNIAL ASTERS

SEASON 1955

New varieties imported from England. Many of them Award of Merit winners by the Horticultural Society, London, England.

The color range has been marvelously extended in recent years, including delicate pinks, clear reds, white, lavender and near to blue. Also too has the size of the blooms, which in some varieties may approach 3 inches in diameter. Then there are the useful race of dwarfs, 6 to 12 inches in height, ideal for the front of the border or rockery. Perennial asters are tremendously popular in England, being now one of the most widely grown perennials. Coming into bloom in the autumn when flowers are scarce. No garden is complete without them.

CULTURE. Their culture is very simple. Almost all the Novi-Belgii varieties grow vigorously and should be divided drastically every two years into small clumps for best results. A good stake is needed for the tall varieties, with ties at intervals during growth. The tall types may be kept lower by pinching, which will also make them branch out. However, all pinching must be stopped by the middle of July.

Plant 18 inches to 2 feet apart on the tall varieties. The dwarf types, 12 inches to 15 inches.

Price 3 Plants $2.75, 6 Plants $4.75, 12 Plants $8.25, Postage Paid

SOLIDAGO (HARDY MIMOSA)

Having heard so many wonderful reports about these wonderful new Perennial Solidagos, we imported some plants from England along with our Perennial Asters last spring. The following October we had a showing of them with our Asters in one of the large department stores in Seattle. The response was very gratifying. As our stock was limited we had to stop taking orders. Coming into bloom in the Autumn they blend so lovely with the perennial asters. When viewed in the garden or vase indoors they look like fountains of Mimosa with their myriads of golden blossoms carried in loosely formed sprays. In the garden they form bushes 2½ to 4 feet high spilling their gold with great profusion. For cutting they are the quintessence of elegance and grace.

The following Solidagos are available. Guaranteed to bloom profusely this season. $1.50 each, 4 plants for $4.75. Postage paid.

LEMORE. A solidago of great beauty with racemes of deep Primrose Yellow. Award of Merit winner R. H. S. 2 feet, August-September.

FRUGOLD. Lovely arching sprays of Sulphur Yellow. Very attractive, new variety. 2½ to 3 feet, August-September.

PRAECOX. Wonderful blooming variety. Flowers are quite compact forming tufts of a gorgeous Canary Yellow shade, 3 feet, September-October.

GOLDEN WINGS. Gorgeous buttercup yellow, bearing long sprays of irradiating beauty, grand for cutting, 4 feet, September-October.
